Okay, I promise I won't harp on about Christmas every single issue until the big day finally arrives – I'll give you a couple of weeks off, honest! I am allowed to talk about Christmas this week, though, as it's our fantastic Inside Soap preview issue, with all our info, teasers and chats about the festive fireworks! This Christmas certainly looks like a doozy, with secrets aplenty to explode, and love and lust all over the place. But it also seems as if there's lots of fun stuff too, which is why I love

Christmas in the soaps so much. It really is the only time you get to see everyone sitting around the dinner table, or in the living room, just chatting or taking the mickey out of each other – basically acting like all of our friends and family do!

It is funny that the most dramatic week of the year is also when we get most of that everyday stuff, but long may it continue. And as always, I can't wait for this year's!

Alfie meets his daughter!

AS HE CRADLES HAYLEY'S BABY, SHE TELLS HIM THAT THEY'RE THE NEWBORN'S PARENTS...

SCOOP

HOTTEST headlines... /

Kat and Alfie find time to have a serious chat in the bathroom

Alfie has the shock of his life this week, as he picks up the newborn Slater baby at No 31, only for Hayley to walk in and reveal that he's the dad!

The bombshell comes soon after Alfie delivers his own surprise, by turning up on the Slater clan's doorstep during Hayley's birthday party. Standing there as bold as brass, the fella tells his wife Kat that he's sorry for everything he's put her through, and that he wants to win her back for good. But with Kat currently unaware of her hubby's infidelity, will she come to regret giving him another chance?

"Alfie thinks he can start over with Kat, free of baggage!"

"Awkward!" grimaces our Walford insider. "Up to now, only Hayley herself and Jean have been completely aware of the truth. Although Alfie knew that Hayley was pregnant a while back, he thought she'd had a termination, so he figured he was off the hook. Now he thinks he can start over with Kat, free from any baggage. Well, let's see how that works out, then!"

THE SECRET IS OUT!

When Jean spots Alfie at the door, she panics that he'll see the baby and put two and two together – so she tries to shoo him away! Undeterred, Alfie fetches Tommy, Bert and Ernie, while Jean flaps around trying to stop Kat from seeing her boys.

Although confused by Jean's erratic behaviour, Alfie is soon able to have a heart-to-heart with Kat after his wife locks herself in the bathroom. The pair even start to make a few tentative steps to working things out, as Kat is finally reunited with her children...

CONTINUED OVER ➤

It's obvious who Jean blames for this whole sorry mess

INSIDE SCOOP

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

But unknown to either of them, Alfie has a daughter downstairs, and it's only a matter of time before he finds out.

"Jean does her best to stop Alfie from seeing Hayley's baby, but she's on a hiding to nothing," sighs our sneak. "Sure enough, before the day is out, Alfie ends up in the lounge, cradling the tot, oblivious that he's the little'un's dad! When Hayley bursts in on the scene, she blurts out that the baby is hers – and even Alfie works out what that must mean! The question is, will he keep quiet, or demand a role in his daughter's life?"

ALFIE BEGS!

While fixing Alfie with a glare, Hayley demands that Jean put a stop to her birthday party. Of course, Alfie has questions about what's been going on in his absence – but once Kat butts in on the conversation, he's forced to keep shtum.

Instead, Alfie causes a distraction, telling Kat that Stacey was the one who called him back to London. And as Kat bickers with her relative about sticking her nose in, Alfie finally has the opportunity to chat to Hayley alone...

"The trouble is, Hayley is still holding a torch for Alfie," sobs our mole. "Although she knows that it's not realistic, she's still gutted when he tells her that he's only back on the Square for his wife. Alfie begs Hayley to let him be a part of the child's life – however, she refuses outright, threatening to tell Kat everything! It's most probably an empty threat – but can Alfie afford to risk it?"

Later, Alfie manages to convince Hayley to help him out with his latest business venture – Blue Moon Funerals. Although Hayley is cautious at first, she soon begins to see how much her and Alfie's baby means to him, and her resolve starts to weaken.

“Hayley is gutted that Alfie is only back on the Square for Kat!”

“Alfie’s paternal instincts kick in very quickly!”

Star Shane Richie tells us why he’s thrilled to be back in Walford – and that his alter ego is ready to be a father once more...

Hi Shane! What’s it like to be back on the Square?

It’s great! I don’t know how long I’ve been away, but the first day I got back, there were a couple of people who said, “Where did you go?” Like I’d just had a long holiday or something! It really is like I’ve not been away. It’s the same faces – not necessarily the same cast, but the same crew, wardrobe, make-up and management. It’s like stepping on to a Ferris wheel. It’s going round and round, and occasionally some people step on and others step off. And with the Slaters all being together again, stepping into the whole madness of that has been great, but full-on. We’re sometimes filming six days a week... which I enjoy!

What is Alfie’s reaction when he realises that he’s holding his own daughter?

He initially thinks it’s one of Stacey’s. And she says, “No, Alfie, it’s not one of mine” – and then, of course, Hayley walks into the room and goes, “She’s mine!” Alfie realises that this is his daughter, and you see him change. His paternal instincts kick in very quickly, and he takes on board being the father of this child. And that’s

Kat and Alfie appear to be working things out – but a ticking timebomb looks set to explode

JEAN'S ULTIMATUM!

They're being keenly watched, however, by eagle-eyed Jean – who observes how much Hayley is obviously smitten with Alfie. She also notes how gutted Hayley is to see that the love cheat stands a chance of getting back with Kat. Feeling protective of both women, and seeing red over how Alfie has disrupted the family since his return, Jean decides to take matters into her own hands...

"Jean gives Alfie an ultimatum!" gasps our snitch. "She informs him that she knows the truth about the baby, and if he doesn't own up to Kat, she'll tell her anyway! It's quite a threat – but will Jean's intervention end up destroying all of their lives?"

Tom Spilsbury

where the whole story starts...

Alfie also has a new business – as a funeral director!

"Blue Moon Funerals – a good way to go!" He thinks it's such a genius idea! It's not a scam – he's selling funerals to people under 50.

So he's not conducting the funerals himself?

No, he's done a deal with the local funeral director. He has a business plan. It's for the under-50s. "It's a long time until you die, but meanwhile, I'll have your money!" He's trying to sell it to everyone and anyone. Of course, it goes belly-up and comes back to bite him on the bum.

It sounds as if there's a lot of classic Alfie comedy alongside the storyline with Hayley...

Yes, there are some heavy scenes going on – and then his phone will ring while he's having a row with someone, and he'll have to say, "Blue Moon Funerals – a good way to go!" And his phone is always going off! So it was nice playing the comedy with the tragedy.

Bob thinks he's in with a chance of a smooch with his ex, but Brenda has other ideas

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

Will Brenda take back love rat Bob?

HE'S DESPERATE TO RECAPTURE HIS ESTRANGED WIFE'S HEART...

Brenda has a huge decision to make this week, as her estranged husband Bob moves in for a kiss!

Following the breakdown of his relationship with Laurel, the flighty barman has finally realised that he was better off with Brenda – who is now dating Doug. But although Brenda was destroyed when the man she loved left her, that doesn't mean she's desperate for a reunion. In fact, Brenda isn't having any of it!

"When Bob moves in for a kiss, Brenda is rather horrified," explains Lesley Dunlop, who plays the deserted wife. "She just thought he'd understand that she's being kind rather than flirty. She doesn't want him back!"

The thing that matters most to Brenda is that the twins, Heath and Cathy, don't have to suffer because of Bob's break-up with Laurel. They are desperate for a reunion between Brenda and Bob, and given the fact that her romance with Doug is on shaky ground, it makes sense to them. So what has Doug done wrong?

"She thinks he's a bit of a bore!" admits Lesley. "He wants her to accompany him on a date, but it's a gardening event, and she's not keen to go at all. She's rather relieved when the kids are ill, so she can avoid it. I think Doug and a gardening thing would just be too much for her."

It's fair to say that Doug is a bit of a rebound for Brenda, though is she kidding herself that she doesn't still have some feelings for Bob?

"Well, she's quite firm when she explains it's not happening to the kids," explains Lesley.

"Brenda has moved on from Bob – she can't get back with him..."

DOUG TOUGHENS UP!

He angrily punches Bob in the face...

Brenda might think he's 'Mr Boring', but Doug is going to unleash his violent side this week – and Bob is the target of his anger!

Having watched the feckless fella blow things with his daughter Laurel and then try to nick his girlfriend, Doug's had enough. So, when he goes into the Woolpack and sees Bob laying on the charm and flirting up a storm with lots of lady punters, Doug goes mad. All the tension and frustrations over Bob's behaviour and his attempts at getting back Brenda spill out – and Doug punches his former friend in the face!

As the dust settles, it's clear that Doug has stepped over the line and that Bob feels he deserves it. But will Doug's macho antics convince Brenda to keep dating him and turn down her ex's advances?

"Doug's more parochial and less fun-loving than Bob. But I think she's moved on from Bob, and she's disappointed for the kids that getting back with him is not what she wants or can give them."

It looks as if Bob is going to have to resign himself to the single life. However, Lesley is hoping it's not the end of their story. That said, she does think some time needs to pass before the Hope family is whole again.

"One day I want Brenda to end up back with Bob," she tells us. "They should realise that they are made for each other. Mind you, she'd have to get over the concerns that he would cheat again. In the meantime, Brenda would like some fun, spontaneity and intelligence – she wants some more interesting dates! I think she should take a break from village men!"

Sinead's heartbreak... days to live!

AS SHE LEARNS HER FRIEND
STEFF IS LOSING HER BATTLE,
WILL IT CHANGE SINEAD'S MIND ABOUT HER OWN TREATMENT?

Sinead is dealt another cruel blow this week, when her new pal Steff is rushed to hospital – and given just days to live!

Sinead befriended the fellow cancer patient at hospital, and Steff encouraged her to try alternative therapies to fight her illness, leading to Sinead secretly stopping her chemo, for fear she could harm her unborn baby. So when she learns the terrible news about her mate, will she give herself a reality check – and realise that she has to restart her treatment?

“After Sinead finds out about Steff, she goes into panic mode,” sighs Katie McGlynn, who plays her. “She feels as if she has messed up. She starts to think she’s made the wrong decision – she’s distraught, because she thinks by trying to do the right thing, she’s made everything worse.”

In the days before her shock discovery, the pressure of keeping her chemo secret from Daniel is already weighing very heavily on Sinead...

“Sinead is still avoiding treatment because she fears for the safety of her baby – she doesn’t want her child to come to any harm,” Katie reminds us. “But Sinead feels that she must hide it from Daniel, as he’s going to think it’s a ridiculous idea. She doesn’t want to make Daniel angry or disappoint him, because he cares about her health.”

Daniel is under the impression that his wife has still been rocking up at the hospital for chemo – and after he thanks her new friend Steff for helping Sinead through this hard time, Sinead is wracked with guilt for lying to him. But despite the dire nature of their situation, there’s a touching moment for Sinead and Daniel when they head to the hospital for their latest scan – and as the dad-to-be later feels his baby kick, he’s overjoyed.

However, Sinead’s lies begin to spiral out of control after Daniel calls in at the factory, ready to join her at her latest round of chemotherapy.

“Daniel offers to go with Sinead to her appointment,” Katie tells us. “But Sinead has no intention of going to the hospital – and with her lying about her treatment, she just snaps. She feels suffocated, everyone is trying to tell her what to do.”

It’s this stress that leads Sinead to finally break down and confide in vicar Billy what’s been going on. He’s stunned to hear that she’s put herself at risk for the sake of her baby.

“Sinead feels as if she’s out of options, yet she knows she can confide in Billy,” says Katie. “He’s the closet person to God, so she hopes her prayers can be answered. This is her last resort, but she can trust Billy.”

With Billy’s words still ringing in her ears, Sinead finds out the tragic news regarding her pal Steff. So, will she realise that she needs to start chemo as soon as possible? Or might Daniel end up discovering the truth and push his wife into putting her own survival ahead of their unborn baby’s?

Sarah Ellis

No easy answers...

Do alternative therapies work?

Like Sinead, many people who are suffering from cancer choose to use alternative therapies – such as a specially designed diet, or vitamins – instead of traditional treatment in order to beat the disease. But lots of cancer charities and specialists advise against ditching tried and tested medical remedies.

“Many alternative therapies claim to treat or even cure cancer, but there is no scientific proof to show this,” states cancer charity Macmillan Cancer Support on its website. “No alternative therapies are proven to cure cancer or slow its growth. We do not advocate alternative therapies. Although some of them may do no harm, others can be very harmful, and may affect how well conventional treatment works.”

Mandy's baby scare!

IS SHE LOSING HER CHILD?

With a custody battle brewing over Darren's kids, Mandy is feeling the pressure this week, but things get worse when she suddenly collapses – with only Nancy to help her!

The drama begins as Darren announces that he will be representing himself at the custody hearing. However, with Nancy believing he's hired a lawyer, she goes ahead and enlists legal help. Darren frantically realises he will need money for representation if he's going to stand a chance – so he resorts to desperate measures to get some...

"Mandy wins £200 on a scratch card," explains Sarah Jayne Dunn, who plays her. "And as she's recently found out that she's pregnant, any spare money will be put aside. She starts to think everything is falling into place."

Shortly after her win, disaster strikes, as the scratch card goes missing! It soon becomes clear that it was taken by the baby's father-to-be, Darren. When we then see him at the Loft, gambling away, has he fallen back into old habits?

"It's a desperate move by Darren," reckons Sarah. "He's trying to get more money so he can get a better solicitor. Mandy is just worried because of all the times where Luke had no control with his alcoholism, and Darren is a gambling addict, so her experience with both men is very similar."

Soon, Mandy, Darren and Nancy head to court to fight for Oscar and Charlie. But as the atmosphere at the hearing turns toxic, Mandy walks out. It isn't until Nancy finds her later that they realise something is very wrong...

"Nancy discovers her in the toilets," Sarah tells us.

"Mandy's having a bleed and thinks that she's losing the baby! She's lost a child before and it's her biggest fear – she's terrified!"

Mandy is rushed to hospital with Nancy by her side. As they arrive, Nancy is unable to get hold of Darren, so she stays with her hubby's mistress.

"It takes a lot for Nancy to stay," admits Sarah. "And it's a really lovely thing for Nancy to do. She tells Mandy that she's staying for the baby and not Mandy – but the first pieces of the bridge have been built."

The two begin to talk and guilty Mandy apologises for everything she's done to Nancy.

"Nancy doesn't forgive her," shares Sarah. "But I think there is a realisation that Mandy and Darren are together – no matter how hard she fights against it, that's the way it's going to be."

Luckily, on-duty nurse Sinead comes to their aid and finds the baby's heartbeat! However, the test results are still worrying...

"It's her worst nightmare to think that there might be complications," reveals Sarah. "Everything was great, and getting back on track. This is yet another terrifying situation they've found themselves in!"

Sarah is looking forward to a quiet Christmas...

Times might be really tough for Mandy right now, but for star Sarah, she's simply looking forward to a calm family Christmas with her husband Jonathan Smith, and their gorgeous little boy, Stanley.

The couple finally tied the knot back in May, having first met five years ago, after starring together in a theatrical production of Birdsong. Which means that this December will be the first time that the family will be together for the festive season since the couple wed.

"To be honest, the best thing for Christmas for me is my son," grins Sarah. "He's just turned two, so he might be more aware of what's going on. I'm so excited to see his little face when we put up the Christmas tree, and when he meets Father Christmas! I'm at the age where I'm not bothered about presents any more – but it will be exciting for him!"

Evie piles pressure on Tiffany

THE BAD GIRL WANTS TIFF TO GIVE DRUGS TO KEEGAN...

Tiffany's dodgy new pal Evie exerts even more pressure on her this week, demanding she gives drugs to Keegan. Will Tiff stand up to Evie and do the right thing? Or will she be compelled to comply?

These past few weeks, the teen has been forced to deliver drugs on gang members Evie and Jagger's behalf, dragging along reluctant Bernadette. However, now Tiff has shown she's willing to submit to Evie's pressure tactics, just how far will she agree to go?

"This is getting worrying," warns our Square source. "The truth is, Tiffany has had a little voice in her head telling her that she's making a mistake ever since she first met Jagger. In reality, Tiff is far weaker than she makes out – so rather than listening to that voice, she keeps meekly going along with whatever the bullies want from her. But now it has involved genuine criminal activity, what will it take to persuade her to reach out and ask for help from her friends and family?"

When Evie turns up in the Square again this week, she wastes no time in causing trouble by buying Tiffany booze, and winding up Keegan. Later, manipulative Evie meets with Tiff again, and tells the impressionable teenager that she wants her to give Keegan some more drugs. What exactly is Evie planning?

Young lovers Keegan and Louise take an opportunity to enjoy some naughty time at the Beale house this week – but are soon caught out by Ian!

With Louise's help, Ian persuades Keegan to babysit Alfie's kids, while he scuttles off in yet another doomed attempt to impress Mel. However, when Louise and Keegan turn up at No 45, they discover that Alfie has already fetched the boys, leaving them alone in the empty house.

The frisky pair realise that with the place to themselves, they can enjoy getting to know each other more closely. As the temperature rises, the young lovers are shocked after Ian returns home unexpectedly early, catching the couple in the throes of passion!

Will Keegan and Louise be embarrassed by Ian's intrusion – or will they see the funny side?

trying the same thing. Are they wanting him to get hooked? Sadly, Tiff is so keen to impress Evie that she does as she's told without question – only to be caught out by Bernie!"

Like Tiffany, Bernadette is also in it right up to her neck – although she's even more tormented than her chum by the trouble they've got themselves into. Despite her concerns, she's agreed to stand by her mate, even if it leads them into danger. Of course, Bernie has some more personal fears of her own...

"Bernie is scared that she'll lose Tiffany!" reasons our spy. "Ever since Tiff led her on and the pair kissed, Bernie has held out hope that they could have a proper romance. ## Elly's shock snog!

HOW WILL SHE REACT WHEN CHLOE KISSES HER?

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 WEDNESDAY

Elly is left flabbergasted this week, after her best mate Chloe moves in for a kiss!

The pair are sharing a fun, girly afternoon together when the shock snog happens. But how will Elly react as it becomes clear that her boyfriend's sister has a crush on her?

"It's very unexpected – Elly never thought Chloe saw her like that," confirms Jodi Anasta, who plays

Elly. "And it's obviously awkward, seeing as Elly is dating Chloe's brother, Mark!"

The smooch comes about when Elly is having a terrible week anyway. She's just lost her job at the school, thanks to new acting principal Jane Harris – and Chloe is on hand to cheer up her pal in the aftermath.

"Elly gets into trouble for what she wears," explains Jodi. "Jane is conservative, and her view of how teachers should act is very different from Elly's! But Elly feels devastated and lost."

"She confides in Chloe because the two of them have a beautiful relationship

– they really care about each other," adds the star. "Plus, Mark is busy, whereas Chloe is there in that moment."

After Chloe organises a fun afternoon to lift her best friend's spirits, Elly is touched. However, the kiss sends her reeling – and she chooses not to tell Mark what's happened...

"The kiss makes Elly aware of how she feels about Chloe – she starts thinking about her differently," reckons Jodi. "She doesn't tell Mark because she doesn't want it to ruin their relationship, and she also wants to protect Chloe. I think she's doing the right thing, as she doesn't want to mess with that family dynamic."

But not only does Elly fail to mention to Mark that she kissed his sister, she then gets down on bended knee and asks him to marry her!

"Elly wants Mark to know that whatever the outcome of his tests [for Huntington's disease], she will be there for him," Jodi tells us. "Mark's so happy – he was actually going to pop the question himself, though he loves the gesture."

As Mark and Elly flaunt their engagement in Chloe's face, she's heartbroken. But will this be the end of the matter, or could Elly end up in a love triangle with the siblings?

Elly proposes – but keeps hidden the fact that she locked lips with Chloe!

"This is really interesting to explore – watch this space!"

"Watch this space!" teases Jodi. "This is really interesting to explore – that line between friendship and stepping over it, whether it's with a boy or a girl. It can be confusing when your love for a friend goes beyond that, and you're torn between your heart and your head..."

Will Maya tell David what's gone on between her and his son?

EMMERDALE | ITV MONDAY

Maya kisses Jacob!

WHAT WILL HAPPEN AFTER SHE CROSSES A LINE WITH THE BESOTTED TEEN?

Teacher Maya is horrified by her actions this week, after she plants a kiss on Jacob!

It's not the first time that the pair have locked lips, given that Jacob made a move on his history tutor a couple of weeks ago. He totally misread the signals then – so what on earth is Maya thinking when she reciprocates his affections?

“Honestly, it's an absolutely bonkers move on her part,” scolds our Dales insider. “On the surface, Maya seems really sweet and has no obvious agenda, but she knows full well that Jacob is smitten with her. Forget just for one second that this is her fella David's son – Jacob is also one of Maya's pupils!”

The situation spirals after Liv learns that Jacob has been lying about the nature of their relationship. As his feelings for Maya became more intense, Jacob pretended that he and Liv had slept together in a bid to get a reaction out of his dad's girlfriend. So when Liv finds out what the lad has been saying, she's mortified – and is forced to furiously deny Jacob's claims to David and her brother, Aaron.

After Jacob's fibs unravel, he has no choice but to admit his deceit before storming off. Meanwhile, Maya realises exactly what the problem is and offers to talk to Jacob. She asks him if he lied about Liv to make her jealous, and when Jacob struggles to meet her gaze, it dawns on Maya that she has hit the nail on the head with her theory.

However, rather than try to talk some sense into Jacob and deflect his affections, Maya tells him that she is flattered – and kisses him!

“It's fair to assume that Maya enjoys the attention from Jacob and gets lost in the moment,” explains our source. “But she very quickly realises the implications of what is happening and flees, appalled at what she has initiated.”

The next day, Maya realises she must contain the situation

“Maya quickly realises the implications of what's happening...”

ALL GROWN UP!

In a flash, Jacob has gone from squeaky clean to troubled teen...

It's crazy to think that teenager Jacob – who we've watched grow up in Emmerdale – is now at the heart of one of the show's most scandalous stories! For us, it only seems like yesterday that 10-year-old Joe Warren-Plant, who plays him, was stepping out on what would be the first of many red carpets – when he was snapped attending our launch party for the Inside Soap Awards back in 2012. And we couldn't resist digging out this picture to prove it. Just look at him – cute as a button! Now, we feel old...

before Jacob gets carried away and their encounter is exposed. She takes Jacob aside and insists that no one must ever find out, or she'll lose her job at the school.

Naturally, Jacob is conflicted by his emotions regarding Maya, and feels guilty when she tells David that she is moving out. With that, the lad confesses to Maya how awful he feels, and she agrees that David should know the truth. But will Maya really go through with telling her fella that she has snogged his son?

Jacob's lies spiral out of control, but Maya is soon offering him support

Fiz's emotional goodbye!

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

Fiz realises that her daughter Hope badly needs help for her behavioural problems this week, and tells Tyrone that she will have to move to Birmingham so that the youngster can attend a special school!

The couple have already been under pressure, as they deal with the nightmare of sharing a home with Tyrone's troublesome granny, Evelyn. And while the pensioner emotionally blackmails her grandson to let her stay, Fiz sets about trying to find some dog-friendly alternative accommodation for her.

Meanwhile, Ty heads out with Hope to take Evelyn's dog Cerberus for a walk, but when he's momentarily distracted, he realises that he's lost both the youngster and the canine! Fortunately, Hope reappears – only to announce that she's put the unsuspecting mutt on the tram to Rochdale!

"Poor Fiz and Tyrone have to break the news to Evelyn that they've lost Cerberus," wails our Coronation Street insider. "And to make matters worse, Hope then pipes up that she's not even sorry for her actions! Will Fiz accept that Hope's naughtiness is getting out of control?"

SHE TELLS TYRONE THAT SHE'S MOVING TO BIRMINGHAM TO GIVE HOPE THE HELP SHE NEEDS...

Naughty Hope sends Evelyn's dog on a tram journey

As Evelyn rages that she'll never see her beloved doggy again, Fiz and Tyrone discuss Hope's behaviour with a therapist. However, Fiz is aghast when Ty reveals that he's already found a special school for Hope in Birmingham!

"Fiz is understandably upset," says our mole. "After all, that's a good 70 miles away, and she's still hoping to find another option. But the current situation really can't continue – how can it?"

While tensions simmer at No 9 over Hope and the missing dog, Tyrone and Evelyn prepare dinner.

However, while the adults' attention is diverted elsewhere, Hope bites Ty's daughter Ruby! Fiz is forced to accept that they have to give the special school a try, until Hope's behaviour improves.

"Fiz is upset – but the situation can't continue..."

As Fiz says an emotional goodbye to Tyrone, she's surprised that even Evelyn offers some kind words of comfort. In spite of herself, Fiz is touched, and asks the older woman to keep an eye on Ty.

When will Fiz be able to return? And will the school be able to give troubled Hope the help she desperately needs?

Tom Spilsbury

The Corrie actress has a new baby...

In the real world, Fiz's departure is down to actress Jennie McAlpine taking maternity leave. Jennie gave birth to her second child with husband Chris Farr on 29 October, and the new parents have named their daughter after a beloved Coronation Street character...

"Our newest addition arrived yesterday," wrote beaming Jennie on Twitter. "Mummy and Daddy very happy. Big brother very proud of his little sister Hilda. We're all in love!"

Congratulations to the whole family!

Car crash horror!

WHILE DAZ CELEBRATES HIS SWANKY NEW JOB, HIS DAUGHTER IS DRIVING INTO DANGER...

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

Daz's behaviour sees his new boss Trish boot him out of their cab

Just when it looked as if Daz had turned his life around, disaster is set to strike this week – with both he and his daughter, Amelia, right in the thick of it!

Newly employed Daz is delighted to discover his job comes with a company car. But while he's busy getting to know his boss Trish over a few too many drinks in the Woolpack, Amelia is landing herself in serious trouble in her dad's fancy motor...

"After a traumatic few months, Daz has caught a break at last – but typically, his good fortune will prove short-lived," shares our village spy. "As he's socialising with his new boss, school bully Leanna drags Amelia on a joyride in Daz's company car – bringing awful consequences for both Amelia and her dad!"

At the start of the week, it seems as though Leanna's despicable behaviour knows no bounds when Noah and Amelia are roped into setting free a load of animals from the vets'. Elsewhere, Daz is busy celebrating his career success – so when Noah later joins Leanna in breaking into Dale Head to nick his new car keys, he's totally oblivious.

"Amelia attempts to stop Leanna," reveals our sneak. "But she lures the naive young girl into Daz's new car anyway. While filming their escapade on her phone, Leanna makes it look as if Amelia is one of the gang – and as Amelia begs her tormentor to stop, the car swerves off the road."

Fortunately, none of the kids are left seriously hurt – and the trio are quick to flee the scene, unaware that they've left Noah's phone behind. The car remains unnoticed until later that evening, after drunk Daz stumbles across it, having been chucked out of a cab by Trish...

"When Trish invites Daz back to hers to sign some paperwork, he assumes that she's implying something saucier," tuts our insider. "Determined not to muck up his job, he bravely asserts he won't be Trish's plaything. But Trish is married, and wants nothing of the sort! He's been ejected from the cab by the time he finds his new car abandoned, and can't resist climbing inside."

After passing out, Daz foolishly decides

A spark ignites?

AN UNLIKELY BOND FORMS BETWEEN JEAN AND IAN...

The beginning of a surprising new friendship emerges at choir practice this week, when Ian and Jean end up having an emotional heart-to-heart.

Ian landed himself a spot with the Walford Warblers in the desperate hope it would bring him closer to his ex-wife Mel – and has continued to attend rehearsals, despite the fact that the object of his affections isn't a member!

So, as he and Jean sit next to one another at the practice session, the pair begin to chat. And even with the loud distraction of wailing Karen Taylor – who's bothering choir mistress Morag with her last-minute bid to join the choir – Jean lends Ian a kindly ear when the topic of his murdered daughter Lucy comes up.

Jean is embroiled in family troubles of her own right now, thanks to Kat, Alfie and Hayley (see p4) – but she's quick to offer Ian sympathy. Her kindness is warmly received too, as Ian is keenly aware of tragic Lucy's absence while the festive season ramps up. Meanwhile, the Square businessman is also being forced to come to terms with the harsh reality that a relationship with Mel is never going to happen – so is at a particularly low ebb.

Consequently, Jean's affection comes at just the right time, and Ian is quick to show his appreciation as he reaches out to touch stunned Jean's hand. But will Jean be as taken aback as we are that Ian is capable of such gratitude – and might this unexpected closeness between the Walford locals somehow develop into something a lot more romantic?

Allison Jones

to drive the car home, despite being well over the limit. He's nearly back when Noah's phone rings and distracts him – and in the moment, Daz knows that he's hit something. He's horrified to realise that he's run someone over, but rather than check they're okay, he legs it. Is he leaving his victim to die?

Toyah & Imran get it on!

WHAT WILL LEANNE HAVE TO SAY ABOUT THIS?

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

There's a Battersby scandal brewing on the Street this week – as Toyah beds love rat Imran again!

She kicked the cheating lawyer to the kerb after learning that he was double-dating her and sister Leanne, and it looked as if Imran had blown it. But the chemistry between him and Toyah hasn't gone away, and when they end up in a furious row at his office, they can't control themselves.

"This is the woman who got Peter Barlow to change his ways, so maybe Toyah thinks reforming naughty boys is her speciality!" laughs our Corrie insider. "Actually, when Toyah marches into Imran's office, she's ready to give him hell for upsetting Leanne. However, in the middle of the argument, there is a look, and suddenly they are all over each other.

The bickering was a big part of their attraction in the first place, yet Toyah must be mad to give Imran another chance."

We know he isn't a malicious fella, but Imran definitely broke all the rules by juggling sisters. He can't believe it as Toyah falls back into his arms, though they're quickly interrupted and have to spring apart to avoid suspicion. No matter what they feel, both Toyah and Imran realise that nobody can find out about this – because if Leanne knew, she'd hit the roof!

"It's probably not the best idea for them to sneak over to the flat Toyah shares with Leanne to have an afternoon of steamy shenanigans then!"

snipes our snitch. "Everyone is out, and they think it's safe to meet. But of course, Leanne turns up, and Imran is bundled on to the balcony in his pants! Being outside in your underwear is a pretty nightmarish scenario in December!"

While Imran shivers, Toyah hides too, so that Leanne won't ask questions about why she's hanging around the flat in the afternoon. The oblivious sister is there with Nick, and they have lots to discuss themselves. Given how confusing her love

Phelan's dirty money discovered!

SEB STUMBLES UPON A WAD OF CASH...

Wicked Phelan comes back to haunt Eileen this week – when Seb finds his ill-gotten gains in the back of her cupboard.

The stunned lad is shocked to find an envelope with £5,000 stuffed inside and immediately shows Eileen what he's discovered. She quickly realises this must be cash that Phelan was hiding – and dreads to think where or who he got it from. But since nobody has come to claim it in the past few months, it looks as if it's hers for the keeping.

It's not every day cash-strapped Eileen gets a windfall, and nobody would argue that she doesn't deserve some payback for what Phelan put her through. Best friends Liz and Sean insist that she must spend it on something fun, and Eileen mulls it over. She feels guilty about spending the cash, yet soon hits upon an idea. Eileen tells Sean and Liz that they've all had a shocking year and she'll go on holiday – but only if they come with her! And it's a lovely moment as the trio contemplate their grand trip.

The big question is: will anybody come looking for the money, or will Phelan's wicked scheming result in something good for a change?

Kate White

Imran is trapped out on the balcony – will Leanne stumble across him?

life is, it's hard to imagine that Leanne has the head space to worry about Toyah's dating dramas. Still, she won't be best pleased to discover that Toyah and Imran are back on, given the red flags they both saw regarding his romantic conduct.

Is Toyah right to try again with the handsome legal eagle, or does Imran just have 'bad news' written all over him?

Honey hits back!

She tells her ex to butt out of her love life...

EASTENDERS
BBC1 TUESDAY

Billy does his best to sabotage former flame Honey's blossoming relationship with hunky dentist Adam this week – but his ex sees through his transparent attempts to cause problems and goes on her date anyway!

As the jealous fella sticks his nose into Honey's affairs once again, she makes it very clear that she won't stand for any of his nonsense – even if he is the father of her kids. After telling Billy how disappointed she is in his antics, Honey grabs her new bloke by the hand and the smitten pair leave the Vic to enjoy their date together.

Later, as silly Billy chats with Alfie, the possessive chap gets an idea about how he can get his revenge on Adam – and perhaps even find a way to win Honey back!

However, given what his ex said to him the last time he tried a trick like this, is Billy more likely to ensure Honey never talks to him again?

Feeling the heat!

CORONATION STREET
ITV FRIDAY

There's trouble brewing for Brian and Cathy this week, as nasty Phil piles on the work at school.

While Brian is desperate to prove he's a great teacher,

Phil has been taking advantage of him, making him work over and above what's reasonable. And when Brian tells Cathy about a new idea for the school Nativity, she's stunned to discover that's on his list too and she begs him to slow down!

Cathy resolves to give Phil a piece of her mind, but Brian loses his temper and insists he can cope. Is Cathy right to be concerned?

Sonya's missing!

NEIGHBOURS
Channel 5 FRIDAY

Toadie worries about Sonya this week, when her 'flu'-like symptoms worsen. Little do they know, she's secretly been drugged!

Evil Nanny Alice has been plotting against the Rebecchis for weeks, and slowly poisoning Sonya with her special shortbread. After making Sonya look mentally unstable, Alice assures Toadie that she can look after her – but then Sonya goes missing!

What has Alice done to Sonya? And will Toadie be able to find her in time?

Paddy's sweet gesture

EMMERDALE
ITV THURSDAY

Chas and Paddy share a meaningful moment this week, as he reveals a tree carving to her.

The couple had gone to the woods on their failed wedding day and carved their initials into a tree – and now Paddy has added something new.

It's an overwhelming moment when Chas sees that he's carved baby Grace's initial between theirs and drawn a love heart around all three of them. As they share an embrace, is the distance between Paddy and Chas finally closing?

Hands off my man!

HOLLYOAKS
Channel 4 MONDAY

Sinead and Sienna get off on the wrong foot this week, as tension brews between the pair!

Sienna is reading an issue of Teachers Weekly in Price Slice when she's interrupted by Sinead. Although Sienna explains that she's planning to become a teacher, the only thing Sinead is bothered about is her husband – who works at Hollyoaks High.

Sinead tells her rival in no uncertain terms to stay well away from her man, but while Sienna insists she is a changed woman, will she take Sinead's threat as a challenge? And if so, could the old Sienna re-emerge, triumphant?

Duffy's diagnosis

She thinks she's suffering from dementia...

CASUALTY
BBC1 SATURDAY

Duffy continues to display some worrying symptoms this week – and the nurse diagnoses herself with dementia!

After suffering another fall, this time at home, Duffy calls her husband, Charlie, who insists on bringing her into the hospital. In the ED, Duffy is embarrassed by all the fuss, and plays down her illness, making out to Ethan that this is the first time she's taken a tumble. However, once she's alone, she grabs an iPad and types in her symptoms, hoping to figure out what's wrong with her before anyone else does...

Duffy is alarmed by what she finds out, but barely has time to process the information before her colleagues return, and Charlie takes her home. However, when Elle later comes looking for her iPad, she finds it open on a website about dementia. Is this really what Duffy is suffering from?

Max blasts Rainie!

EASTENDERS
BBC1 TUESDAY

Max tears Rainie off a strip this week, when he discovers that his wife has taken baby Abi to Hayley's birthday party!

Unimpressed that Rainie could think of doing anything that might cast doubt on their parental abilities, now that they finally have Abi in their grasp, Max demands that all three of them head straight back home.

Rainie is embarrassed by Max's outburst, but will the woman cave in to her hubby's demands, or dig in her heels and stay at the party?

Keep the peace

EMMERDALE
ITV FRIDAY

Marlon takes it upon himself to keep the peace between girlfriend Jessie and her son Ellis this week, when she criticises her boy's job at the local scrapyard.

Still unhappy that Ellis has dropped out of university, local head teacher Jessie reckons that Ellis should be aiming higher when it comes to his future career.

Concerned about the rift between Ellis and Jessie – who have also been clashing over incarcerated family member Billy – Marlon is determined to help mum and son make up. But is he fighting a losing battle?

McDonald matchmakers!

Can Steve and Tracy help Amy find love?

CORONATION STREET
ITV WEDNESDAY

Fed-up Tracy tries to persuade Amy to ditch the parental contract this week – by helping her win the heart of the boy she's developed a crush on!

After Steve and Tracy are forced to endure a fun-free family night as per their daughter's agreement, Tracy wants out. Secretly snooping on Amy's phone to discover which of the Weatherfield lads Amy has taken a fancy to, Tracy decides that all the available evidence points to Aadi. So she and Steve arrange a date night at the Bistro, and try to convince Dev to bring his boy Aadi along too. It looks as if it's a foolproof plan, until Dev arrives solo and shamelessly explains that his son would rather die than date Amy!

Horried that their daughter is being rejected, Tracy and Steve wonder how to cover their tracks. But is Amy set to find out about her mum and dad's meddling?

Misbah stunned!

HOLLYOAKS

Channel 4 THURSDAY

Misbah tries to get to know her daughter Farrah's new other half, Grace, this week – but soon learns things about her that she'd rather not!

After Farrah invites her mum to help Grace give her flat a makeover, she's happy to witness the two of them getting along famously. However, when Misbah finds a taser hidden in a cupboard, she's horrified!

Can Grace persuade her girlfriend's mum that she truly has left her gangster days behind her?

Christmas spirit

Can grieving Mrs T's team help her to move on?

DOCTORS
BBC1 TUESDAY

Mrs Tembe's worried colleagues are determined to help with her crisis of faith this week, as she declares that Christmas decorations for the surgery would be unsuitable this year.

Just like Mrs T, Al is also still grieving the loss of their close colleague, Heston, and when he arrives for work in a taxi again – refusing to get back behind the wheel in the wake of the accident – it's clear that the fella still blames himself.

However, realising that Mrs Tembe's tinsel ban is related to her struggle with her religious beliefs, Al ropes Jimmi and Valerie into decorating the surgery's Christmas tree – and in a touching tribute to Heston, Al places the bow tie he wore to his late team-mate's funeral at the top.

But as the proud trio finally unveil their creation, how will Mrs Tembe react?

Bernie betrayed!

HOLBY CITY
BBC1 TUESDAY

Troubled Serena makes a desperate attempt to bury the memory of her forbidden kiss with Leah this week – only for the pair to end up falling into one another's arms again.

However, the timing of the fling between Serena and Leah couldn't be any worse – when Serena's long-distance lover, Bernie, decides to surprise her girlfriend by jetting in all the way from Nairobi!

As her arrival forces Serena to think long and hard about the future of their relationship, will she be forced to confess her terrible secret?

Neighbours' Nanny Alice just hammered her own hand with a rolling pin?! What on earth? She must be really desperate to get those painkillers. I wouldn't break my hand for anyone.

👍 | Emily, Shrewsbury
Good for you, Emily.

STAND BY YOUR MAN

I think it's always been obvious that Linda has been quietly scheming to lure Stuart into confessing what really happened the night he was shot. I mean, this is Mick and Linda we're talking about – they're inseparable!

👍 | 'Simmo', Watford

Oh yes – Stuart bit off more than he can chew when he came to mess with Linda!

Prince can't see that Lily has his vest interests at heart

TELL HER, PRINCE!

Hollyoaks' Lily and Prince need to actually start talking to each other. I don't understand why he won't trust his own wife with his cancer scare. The only thing he's doing is driving her away. I hope they don't break up!

👍 | Delia

But where would the land of soap be without characters hiding life-threatening illnesses from their loved ones?

THE CON IS OFF

Everyone else can see this Emmerdale plot coming from a mile away, can't they? That Clive is setting up Frank and Leyla to take the fall for his con? Please guys, give us something a bit more worthy of us!

👍 | Elly, Newcastle

We still can't believe that Michael Praed is being subjected to these con plots. He's better than this!

SUPER SALLY

Unlike Deirdre and Gail who have gone before her, Corrie's Sally has the nerves of steel to get through life in prison. Never mind her surviving jail – jail will be lucky to survive Sally! Mark my words... As soon as Sally is free, she'll be standing as MP for Weatherfield West, and then will be appointed home secretary on a promise of massive prison reform!

👍 | Jim
Sally's just the kind of leader that this country needs right now!

👍 | Cheryl, Southend

The BIG DEBATE!

ILLUSTRATION: ROB DAVIS

SUGDEN VS TATE!

Nicola and Robert's plan to swindle Kim Tate left us stunned! If Robert's scheme to "crush her" is as good as we think it'll be, we're in for battle when the Queen of Home Farm returns next year...

As much as I love seeing Robert and Aaron happy, and on course to start a family of their own, it was great seeing Rob back at his wicked best – scamming and scheming. After all, this is the man who Aaron fell in love with!

👍 | Cheryl, Southend

I genuinely thought Nicola had ruined Robert's con! So the moment when it looked as if he was going to have a pop at her, and then they embraced to celebrate, was a great twist. There was an air of Dynasty and Dallas about it, and we don't see enough of that in our UK soaps.

👍 | Lee

I agree. The rise and fall of Weyland & Co in Walford just didn't quite manage it!

Sorry, but I reckon that Robert has bitten off more than he can chew taking on Graham and Kim. We're talking about the biggest bitch in soap, and her henchman who has special forces training. As if Robert and Nicola are a match for them!

👍 | Mandy, Nottingham

As much as I loved the Kim Tate of old, I wasn't overly impressed with her big return earlier this year. I think soaps can be guilty of turning some characters into pantomime villains and losing track of why they were so good in the first place. I love the idea of Kim vs Robert – but to make their rivalry really good, she should dial it down a bit!

👍 | Paul

But then some of Kim's best scenes have been her camping it up to the max! A fine balance of the two would be just marvellous.

Request SPOT

ORANGE APPEAL

Emma in Corrie was wearing a lovely floral top in orange and lilac this week. Can you tell me where I can buy one for me please?

📱 | Rachel, Swindon

I can! Emma's blouse is from River Island. It's sold out there, but you can buy one via www.asos.com. Log on to the site and search 'River Island wrap front blouse in floral print'.

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

Johnny was a fine gang boss, but a terrible interior designer – bleurgh!

FIVE ALIVE!

In EastEnders this week, Jack was renting a flat at No 5 to Ruby, and he said that he once bought the whole house from her. How is that possible? Wasn't Ruby a teenager when she was last in Walford?

📱 | Marcie

Ah, but you're forgetting the vital fact that Ruby Allen's dad was none other than club owner and general gangland boss Johnny Allen. Johnny once owned No 5, and the house passed to Ruby after he died in prison. Ruby sold it to Jack, who rented it to Max and Tanya and family. Max later bought it, but ended up defaulting on his mortgage and losing the property. Jack bought it again in 2016 and split the house into flats.

Walford!

Blood will be spilled this Yuletide as all hell breaks loose...

The residents of Walford all have big appetites this festive season, though for a couple of characters, turkey sandwiches aren't on the menu – revenge is! And it won't just be the odd glass of prosecco spilt on the grounds of Albert Square, after someone ends up with blood on their hands. Is this Christmas set to be the last for at least one of the locals?

Mick's vengeance!

The Carters will receive the greatest gift of all when jailed Mick is finally released from prison and reunited with his beloved Linda. But peace and goodwill to one man in particular couldn't be further from Mick's mind, as he plans to take his revenge on sadistic Stuart...

"There is no way that Mick will let Stuart get away with what he has done to his family," says our EastEnders insider. "But how far is he willing to go to get rid of this bloke? It looks as if the Vic's landlord will be pushed to the limit."

Recent filming pictures reveal that a violent showdown is in the offing for the pair, with Mick appearing to kidnap Stuart. The men end up at what looks like a deserted industrial estate, where Stuart is bound and gagged – and at the mercy of Mick. Is Linda's husband set to cross a line of no return?

Alfie's secret baby!

There's no such thing as a silent night for the Slaters at any time of the year – least of all Christmas! But an eerie hush will descend over No 31 when Kat discovers that Alfie is the father of Hayley's baby!

"Put it this way, it might not just be Big Mo's dodgy goose heading for the slaughter house this Yuletide," winces our source. "Kat and Alfie have been to hell and back throughout the course of their relationship – but is his indiscretion with her cousin just one betrayal too far? It'll be a Christmas miracle if their marriage manages to survive."

The drama will unfold as Alfie puts his heart and soul into giving Kat the perfect day with all the trimmings, before his web of deceit unravels in catastrophic style. While Kat's world crumbles, chaos ensues – with consequences that none of the clan sees coming...

Mel's wedding hell!

It won't be the first time that Square siren Mel has seen in the new year with a wedding – yet ex-husband Ian got off lightly compared with the drama she has in store for her cheating fiancé, Ray!

"Judging by recent sneaky snaps from filming, Mel plans to trick Ray into marrying her so that she can report him to the police for bigamy," snitches our spy. "But whenever does a carefully laid revenge plan ever come to pass in Walford?"

As the bride-to-be puts the final pieces of her scheme into place, she comes to a disturbing realisation. So will Mel be in danger if Ray realises that she has double-crossed him?

TILLY KEEPER

LOUISE MITCHELL

What sort of Christmas will Louise be having this year?

She's feeling a little conflicted and lonely. The people who Louise thought would be there for her are falling away, so she turns to others who you wouldn't expect for comfort. On Christmas Day, Lou has a lot of fun in the Vic, and then she has a very eventful Boxing Day. There are lots of laughs, but also relationships will be tested!

What would you get Louise for a Christmas gift?

I would get her a self-help book or a diary, so that she can write down all of her thoughts and work out where she's going to go next in life!

What is Christmas like for you?

Very tame! I get up, have a cup of tea, listen to Christmas songs and open some presents before dinner. We might all have a nap by 4pm – and then play some competitive Scattergories. It gets very intense!

If you could have any soap character round for a turkey feast, who would it be?

I love Kellie Bright, so it would have to be Linda Carter. She'd want to be the host and take over, but I bet she has really good table manners!

Will you be watching EastEnders' Christmas Day episode?

My parents like all the soaps, so we'll definitely be watching!

Weatherfield!

Love and hate threaten to destroy lives on the cobbles...

Christmas is all about holding your loved ones close – but secret passion, jealousy and bitter betrayal look to tear the residents of Coronation Street apart this year. Two marriages hang in the balance, and an old flame is set to be rekindled – while a meddling family goes all out to destroy happiness built on deception. Which couples will survive to greet 2019 together, and who will head into the new year alone?

Gina makes her move!

With Sally behind bars and Tim facing his first Christmas without her, Gina is ready to steal her sister's place in the Metcalfe family. She knows it's wrong to want Tim – but can she stop herself doing whatever it takes to get him?

“Prepare to see a very dark version of the Gina we know and love,” warns our Corrie insider. “Gina can’t help what she feels for Tim, and he’s clueless about how she’ll manipulate him. She’s set to get him under that mistletoe!”

While Sally tries to stay strong, Tim will turn to booze to get through his loneliness. So when Gina catches him tipsy and vulnerable, will he swap one Seddon sister for another?

“Gina’s been Tim’s rock through all of this, and he’s not sure if Sally can be trusted now,” explains our source. “It would destroy his wife, but is Tim thinking about her with Gina dripping poison in his ear?”

Carla & Peter’s games!

The chemistry between Carla and Peter has always been red-hot, but any hope of reconciliation cooled after he sold out to Nick at Underworld recently – though Carla will soon make the fella question everything.

“Any sane person would walk away from what is a toxic relationship, yet neither Peter nor Carla can see it,” whispers our mole. “They’ve been playing games since she came back, but it’s time to lay their cards on the table.”

With Carla and Peter drawn back together, will they reunite or put an end to their passion once and for all?

Sly Lewis exposed?

Audrey risked losing her family when she reunited with Lewis earlier this year, but she was sure he was her soulmate. However, her faith in him will soon be tested, as Gail plots to expose him.

“Audrey will get a windfall that she wasn’t expecting, and all eyes will be on Lewis while news of her good fortune spreads,” shares our spy. “Gail’s certain he’ll make a grab for it and leave Audrey heartbroken – and when he acts oddly, it looks as if she could be right...”

Audrey wants to spread her good fortune, so invites all the people she loves to celebrate, but is Lewis about to make a public spectacle of her?

“It wouldn’t be the first time that he swindled the family,” muses our snoop. “If Gail’s right, Lewis will break Audrey this time. She’ll never recover if he double-crosses her again!”

BRIAN PACKHAM

Brian’s had a tough time of late, thanks to his bully boss Phil...

Yes, and the bullying is ongoing – but it’s been interesting showing Brian’s vulnerability. Workplace bullies are a real issue for a lot of people, and there are occasions when you think, ‘Poor lad – if only he’d speak up!’ Brian comes across as a buffoon, so it’s good we’re showing this different side of him.

We’re guessing you’ve already filmed Corrie’s Christmas episodes – do you enjoy getting into the festive spirit early?

We’re done with Christmas and into the new year now! No matter what we’re filming, it’s always the wrong time of year for it. Sometimes it’s summer and you’re in a winter coat, sometimes it’s winter and you’re wearing a summer coat. So I don’t really take it on board when we’re doing a Nativity in October...

Does Brian have a happy Christmas to look forward to?

To be honest, I woke up in a few cold sweats about what happens to him over Christmas! Bullying is a serious issue, but in true Brian style, there’s some slapstick in store – and some stunts! I can only tease what happens by saying that Brian is somewhat hoist by his own petard...

Is Brian facing a struggle with Phil as we head into the new year?

He has a journey ahead, and how it all ends is interesting – I won’t say much more, though!

CHRISTMAS IN...

Emmerdale!

There's joy and pain in store for the Dales residents...

It's supposed to be the most wonderful time of the year – but while the Dales does its best to get into the Christmas spirit, for some there's no escaping the family spats and financial traumas the festive season can also bring. So thank goodness for the promise of a Yuletide wedding for some much-needed Christmas sparkle...

Dingle dong – wedding bells!

The Dingles have endured typically tough times these past 12 months – but could the clan top off a miserable year with a happy-ever-after? The ramshackle family is preparing for a secret wedding – but who is getting wed, and will the day go to plan?

“Christmas is a time for family – and the Dingles need no excuse!” shares our village sneak. “But instead of gathering around the Christmas dinner table, they’ll be getting together for one of their own to say, ‘I do’. Problem is, one half of the happy couple has no idea they’re about to get hitched – so can their nearest and dearest be trusted to get them to the church on time?” With this secret ceremony in the offing, the pressure is on for the Dingles to get the special day right. But in the chaos that ensues, Sam thinks he’s the lucky fella! Engaged to devoted Lydia, Sam is certain that the hush-hush wedding is his – though could heartbreak be coming his way, instead?

Ugly sisters?

Bernice and Nicola are well known for their sibling rivalry, and as the festive season ramps up, the fiery sisters are in line for a big falling-out. But what prompts their bust-up?

“It would be a Christmas miracle if Nicola or Bernice put their own problems aside and considered someone else for once!” tuts our snitch. “While Bernice is determined to make a go of things with dishy Dr Liam, Nicola is embroiled in her bid to bring down Home Farm. But is one of the selfish girls about to take a step too far to get what they want?”

With Christmas around the corner, one of the sisters must make a big decision – with potentially disastrous consequences! However, is either shameless enough to go through with it?

Holy show

Christmas is a busy time for village vicar Harriet, but she has a particularly pressing mission on her to-do list this year, as she’s keen to track down Ross’ ex-conquest, Dawn. What does Harriet want with the troubled drug addict?

“It’s all very mysterious,” teases our spy. “Harriet keeps her cards close to her chest. While we know she used to be a police officer, her past is a closed book. So is she just looking out for one of her flock by trying to find Dawn – or might it be something from Harriet’s former life that prompts her desperate search?”

Christmas STAR

ASH PALMISCIANO

MATTY BARTON

You’re about to enjoy your very first Emmerdale Christmas – are you looking forward to it?

Yes! It’s been a fantastic year on the show, so seeing the village all set up for Christmas is lovely. We have a Nativity, we have trees – I’m loving it!

What would you get Matty for a Christmas present?

Matty’s favourite movie is Back To The Future, so I’d get him a DeLorean car to go around the village in! Or maybe a hoverboard, like the one [star Michael J Fox’s character] Marty McFly has.

Do you have your own Christmas plans sorted?

I’m going back to my home town Leamington Spa, and spending it with my family. As a jobbing actor, it’s so nice to have time off at Christmas – usually I’m an elf, working right through it! So I’m looking forward to watching films and eating chocolate.

Which soap character would you invite for Christmas dinner?

Pat Butcher from EastEnders would have a few drinks – she’d be a good laugh! But Emmerdale’s Rodney is never short of a few one-liners, so he’d be fun too!

What would you like Matty to have in store for 2019?

He needs a few wins – he’s lost his girl [Victoria], so it would be great for him to gain a new confidence, a new love interest, and a job that he really wants to do!

CHRISTMAS IN...

Hollyoaks!

The mistletoe is in plentiful supply this winter...

The Hollyoaks locals are a saucy bunch at the best of times – so imagine what they're like after a glass of mulled wine! There'll be festive frolics galore as the party season gets under way – but with Breda on the loose, we can't guarantee that everyone will make it to the new year alive...

Merry Mercedes!

With Russ six feet under, Mercy truly is the queen of the Dog – and she's certainly not short of hunks! Her chemistry with Sylver is hotter than a roast turkey, while bad Santa Liam is thrown into the mix when he tries to get into the lusty landlady's stockings, too! Yet as the McQueens come together for the festive season, will any of them discover that there's a serial killer lurking in their midst, in the form of tiny but terrifying Breda?

"We're very excited about Christmas," teases the show's executive producer, Bryan Kirkwood. "It's been many years since we've had such a brilliant line-up of McQueen women in the show. So with the addition of Cleo, Sally and Goldie to the family, this year is going to be rocking!"

Nightmare before Christmas

Mandy and Darren are definitely on the naughty list as 25 December approaches, following their scandalous affair – and sadly a miserable family Christmas awaits the pair. With Buster's upcoming trial hanging over them, teenager Ollie is struggling to muster any festive cheer, while Mandy is still deeply concerned for the health of her unborn baby...

"Mandy and Darren will have an agonising choice to make about the future of their child," whispers our Hollyoaks mole. "We have an episode coming up next year which will celebrate diversity in the village, and this storyline will play into that. But viewers will have to wait to find out exactly what news the couple are given at the hospital."

Throne of lies!

Louis will be receiving a trio of tasty treats this Yuletide, as he continues to juggle three women at once! When Leela pops the question, Louis is forced to paint on a smile and agree to become her husband – but viewers know that he's already married to someone else!

"Louis' trouble is that he just can't believe his luck!" chuckles our spy. "He has three gorgeous women chasing after him – fiancée Leela, ex-wife Simone, and current missus Martine – and he's just powerless to say no to any of them! So while Leela ploughs ahead with plans for a New Year wedding, surely this can't end well!"

So, will Louis the love rat Loveday start 2019 banged up for bigamy?

LOUIS LOVEDAY

It looks as though the festive period is going to be a very busy time for Louis! What do you think he's hoping for this Christmas?

Well, I'm not too sure what he's hoping for in life, but I know what he should be getting for Christmas as a gift – a chastity belt! That might solve his problems...

We've heard Hollyoaks is a fun place to work around Christmas – who are you hoping to get in the work secret Santa?

I'd like Jess Fox [Nancy], and I'd get her anything cake-related. She's an amazing baker – Celebrity Bake Off should sign her up immediately!

What soap character would you most like to have around your Christmas dinner table?

Scott Drinkwell! He is my favourite character from Hollyoaks. I think he's hilarious, loyal and charming – all wrapped up with a Christmas turkey fake tan! And Ross Adams, who plays him, is such a great raconteur who would be a wonderful addition to anyone's Christmas.

If Louis could do absolutely anything in 2019, what would you like to see him do?

Take over as the head teacher of Hollyoaks High. He'd like that to happen.

Away from work, what is on your bucket list for 2019?

To complete the London to Paris bike ride in July!

"It's definitely Jim!" confirms our Erinsborough spy. "What a coup for the show to get Alan to film some special scenes. But is Jim really alive? Watch this space!"

Susan's guilt

Susan is certain she's on the naughty list this year, as her guilt over Finn weighs heavily. She receives a Christmas gift in the shape of a package left at her door. But who is it from – and what's inside?

"Susan hasn't asked Santa for this," says our mole. "The contents of the package leave her feeling pretty unnerved..."

Danson ON ICE!

Jane's partner is a familiar face...

It's a nail-biting time for star Jane, now that she's been revealed as a contestant on next year's Dancing On Ice. Her professional partner is none other than Sylvain Longchambon, the husband of her best friend and Corrie cast mate Samia, aka Maria Connor.

"It's been a lifelong dream!" enthuses Jane. "I think I've fallen in love with ice skating. It's the biggest challenge and sometimes scary, but trying something new is exciting. I'm super-thrilled that it's been announced that my partner is the brilliant Sylvain. Can't wait!"

Samia has taken to Twitter to cheer on the pair, and left a lovely message for Jane on her 40th birthday, too.

"Beyond giddy to see you both on the ice," wrote Samia. "Happy birthday to my diamond of a BFF, 25 years of friendship, and I still look up to you! Beautiful inside and out always. With each other through all of life's good and bad bits. I'm a lucky girl to have you in my life."

Jane and Sylvain will begin their Dancing On Ice journey when the 11th series of the show airs in early 2019, and training has started already. The Street star has been keeping her followers updated on her progress, particularly the early mornings she's been spending on the rink. Go, Jane!

Sylvain lining: Samia's hubby will partner Jane

It's fair to say that Leanne Battersby has had a terrible year. She's been knocked over and nearly died, she's been two-timed with her sister as the other woman, and she's bedded Steve McDonald – again! We're exhausted just listing her dramas, so it's no wonder that Leanne is looking for some peace. But as we catch up with her real-life alter ego Jane Danson, does she think Leanne will find it by reuniting with childhood sweetheart, Nick Tilsley?

"Ultimately, Nick is the love of Leanne's life," shares the star. "It's important to show that some people stay together, because some do. It would be nice if they could build on that – as something pulls Nick and Leanne back together every time."

This week, Nick is still begging Leanne for another chance now that the truth about his hidden marriage has been revealed. Sick of all the fighting, Shona locks Leanne in the café with Nick, so they are forced to sort out their differences. Surely, the pair will be in there forever!

"The spark between them has been quietly flickering away," teases Jane. "Leanne has been trying to suppress it, because she's scared of getting hurt again. When she finds out that Nick has offered to pay off Elsa in exchange for keeping Leanne's name out of their divorce, she's pleased. I think that shows commitment on Nick's part. He's ready to be with Leanne and sacrifice his financial situation and his business to do so. I think that he's putting his neck on the line a bit for her. It shows more commitment than when he left last time."

If they can rekindle things, it won't be the first time they've tried to make a go of it – which reminds Jane of another famous Weatherfield couple.

"They are like Ken and Deirdre, because they keep breaking up and getting back together," laughs Jane. "Nick knows Leanne, he's seen her at her worst and at her best.

I think that's a sign of true love. Since the car accident, Leanne has been putting on a bit of a brave face, to show everyone that she is okay. But now, I think she's realised that she is quite vulnerable. She needs that help, love and support because she's struggling a little bit, and she feels safe with Nick."

The danger of this cycle of make-ups and break-ups is that viewers might wonder if Leanne should cut Nick loose forever. After all, he has let her down time and again.

"I think each time you split, the relationship dilutes a little bit more," muses Jane. "Leanne and Nick have been on and off for such a long time that hopefully they can build their relationship and raise Oliver together. I would like to see Leanne happy!"

Amen to that, Jane. We're guessing Corrie has more drama in store as Nick settles back into life in Weatherfield. What does it feel like for Jane to have all that history, and to have been in the show for almost two decades?

"I feel like one of the old ones now!" she chuckles. "I love it, and I feel really lucky. It sounds soppy to say, but it is a lovely place to work, and it's gorgeous to have Ben Price back as Nick – we're such good friends. It's my dream job!"

Ray of LIES!

WHILE MEL'S FIANCÉ RAY SPINS STORIES TO HIS BELOVED, HIS ALTER EGO SEAN MAHON IS MORE STRAIGHT-TALKING WHEN HE SETTLES DOWN WITH INSIDE SOAP...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 FRIDAY

Walford has seen its fair share of love rats over the years – and undercover investigator Ray Kelly is surely one of the most odious! Since doing some private detective work of her own, his fiancée Mel has discovered that not only does he have a secret wife and family, but he also has a whole other alias in Simon Wright! Inside Soap tracked down actor Sean Mahon, who plays the dastardly double-dealer, to find out how he manages to keep track of all Ray's fibs...

So, Sean – the truth is starting to come out about Ray! Did you know he would end up being a bigamist?

I didn't! I knew that the character would be incendiary in some kind of

Mel's hell: She's working overtime to get vengeance way, and he would really push Tamzin Outhwaite's character Mel in a certain direction – yet I didn't comprehend the full details until later! You think that you want to know in advance, because it'll inform how you're going to play the whole thing, but it's actually more fun to suddenly realise.

What did you think when you initially read the scripts?

My first thought was, 'Why was I cast as a philanderer or bad person?' Sometimes I look in the mirror and think, 'Do I really look that evil?', but then I reckon, 'How fun!' The great challenge is how to make it believable, and to find the truth in why people do what they do. Not everybody is all dark. There has to be goodness, and Ray certainly has charm and likeability. He does love his family, he does love Hunter and he does love Mel. It's just his version of love.

How do you think Ray would react if he knew Mel was plotting revenge?

Well, obviously, he wouldn't like it! But also, there'd be an element of respect that someone can actually match him. That might make her even more endearing!

So he wouldn't try to take revenge on her in return?

I don't think so – not unless he's forced down that road. Anyone who's backed into a corner will fight their way out of it.

Ray would have respect for Mel and her revenge plan...

You said Ray has real feelings for Mel. Can he say that at all about his other family?

I think there was a point in time where he did. But I don't think anyone has ever matched Mel. He unequivocally loves her. She's the one.

Does Ray see Ian as competition at all?

No, I don't think so. I think that he's amused by Ian to the point of irritation! Ian's like a mosquito. I don't reckon Ray needs to take action. He just needs to be himself, and Ian will wilt!

Do you see Ray as a bad boy?

Would I want my daughter to marry Ray? I don't think so. But is he a complete bad seed? I think that life has conspired against him and created the man that he is today.

What reaction have you had from EastEnders viewers?

A lot of big smiles! A lot of women love Ray and want to hug him on the street.

Is there anyone else you'd like to see Ray interact with?

I did some bar scenes with Danny Dyer [aka Mick], but nothing one-on-one. That would be a landmark moment. I guess the only person who I haven't done scenes with who I'd love to is Dot.

She probably wouldn't like Ray!

You never know – I mean, her son Nick wasn't such a great guy! Maybe she'd see someone that she could actually turn to the light. She'd give him a piece of her mind!

Tom Spilsbury

Two wives make a wrong: Mel and Ray's other half are in cahoots

MEL GETS MADDIE!

Suspicious Mel digs around for dirt on Ray this week – and even swipes his warrant card once his back is turned!

Annoyed that her lying fiancé has stood her up yet again for 'work reasons', Mel gets in touch with his secret wife, Maddie, and arranges to meet her at E20. Crafty Mel manipulates Maddie into revealing where the shifty fella might really be.

Armed with her freshly acquired information, Mel heads off to another drinking den, determined to find out what Ray is up to – and makes a further shocking discovery...

Once the couple are home later, Mel keeps quiet about her findings, but quizzes Ray about his inconsistent explanations. She then secretly pockets his warrant card and heads out to meet Maddie again – this time intent on telling the poor woman the truth about her man. Although Maddie refuses to believe Mel's claims, will she change her mind as Mel drops another bombshell?

The bitch is BACK!

AS CINDY RETURNS, STEPH WARING TELLS US SHE'S READY FOR A BATTLE...

Best of frenemies:
Cindy and Marnie
come together

Cindy Savage makes a return to Chester this week, and is hoping for a less dramatic time compared with when she left. But after more than 20 years in Hollyoaks, the village veteran must know that it's just not possible! So, having departed in the wake of Milo's killer admission and her daughter Holly's emotional exit, what drama lies ahead for Cindy?

Soon after her comeback, the woman finds prostitute Donna-Marie living in her house with evil Mac. And as Steph Waring – who plays Cindy – tells us, this isn't a harmonious homecoming.

"It's not the nicest surprise, is it?" laughs the star, who first played Cindy in 1996. "She finds Donna-Marie in her dressing gown with chocolate all over it! I don't even think Cindy knows who she is! She tries her best to make the best of the situation, and invites Donna-Marie out to the Dog for a meal. But when Cindy realises that's she's wearing one of Dirk's shirts, she completely loses it. That's it as far as she's concerned!"

Soon, Cindy and Marnie put their differences aside to search for damning evidence to get rid of Donna-Marie...

"Marnie and Cindy are frenemies," sighs Steph. "But they always join forces where their son Alfie is concerned, and they just want rid of Donna-Marie – for his sake. But Donna-Marie is ballsy! She could beat them at their own game."

Despite Donna-Marie being the new bad girl in town, Steph says that actress Lucy-Jo Hudson is the complete opposite to her colourful character.

"I love her! We have fun together," chuckles Steph. "I've known Lucy-Jo for a number of years and we laugh a lot. It's really good to be put in roles where we don't have to be nice to each other!"

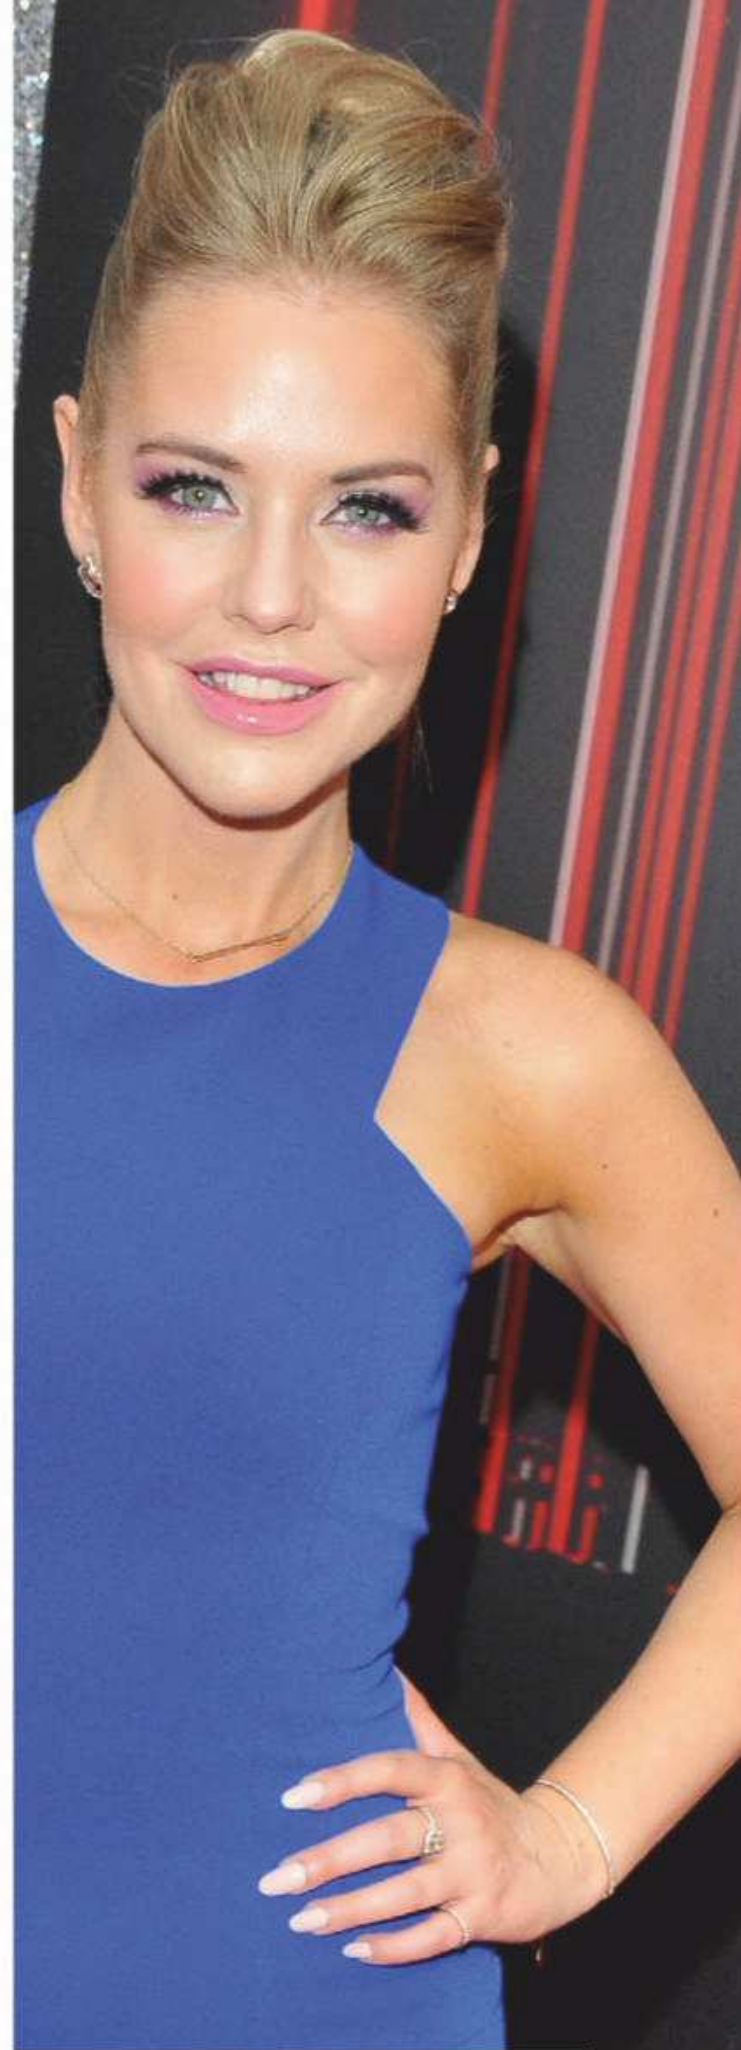

Following the death of Cindy's husband, Dirk, and the departure of her daughter, Holly, how has Steph found it on set without her old cast mates?

"I was very close to Amanda Clapham [Holly] and David [Kennedy, aka Dirk] – they were my best friends," she admits. "It is hard sometimes not having them here – there are two holes in Hollyoaks!"

So as something of a new chapter for both Cindy and Steph, what does the star see her alter ego doing next?

"She's done so much already!" says Steph. "She's been married six times, she has children, she's killed someone, and she has bipolar. I'd like to think it would be something that challenged me. There's life in the old dog yet!"

Alice Penwill

Steph's charity mission

It's not just Cindy who has been away, as star Steph used her break from the show to go to Iraq on a charity trip. As an ambassador of the Bring Hope Humanitarian Foundation, she flew out to support families in war-torn countries.

"I wanted to know what they're going through, and it's probably the most rewarding thing I've done," shares Steph. "It opened my eyes, and I want to raise awareness and money for the kids."

"I can't believe you've betrayed me, after all these years together..."

"Sorry, but I'd just had enough of not knowing where I stand with you. It's so nice to finally be in control..."

No nasty surprises

...and no dramas

TAKE BACK CONTROL AND MAKE SURE THAT SPARKS DON'T FLY WHEN YOU OPEN YOUR NEXT BILL FROM YOUR ENERGY SUPPLIER - GET A SMART METER TO KEEP TRACK OF HOW MUCH YOU'RE SPENDING...

Energy bills can be scarier than a midnight stroll with Coronation Street's Pat Phelan. As nights turn longer and the heating is cranked up, you might be dreading your next bill coming through the door. We can't all miraculously find money like EastEnders' Phil Mitchell in a bit of bother – and a big bill coming out of the blue might make you feel helpless. So, to save yourself from another thing to worry about, take back the power with the help of a smart meter.

"Be sure that your energy bill won't be a shock!"

Budgeting will be a breeze when you can see how much energy you are using as you use it, all in pounds and pence. This will mean that, unlike the residents of Emmerdale village, you will have something to trust – in the form of your smart meter! It will be on hand to help you keep track of the energy your household is using, making it easier to see where you could save money, and helping you become a pro at finding ways to cut down your energy bills – such as filling up your kettle with only the water that you need during the Hollyoaks ad break.

Better still, smart meters can be used by anyone, whether you rent or own your home. So, ensure that you avoid any major serial dramas by taking control with a smart meter – you'll soon find yourself even happier than the Underworld factory girls at a Rovers Return lock-in!

It couldn't be easier to start saving energy and eliminate the dread of opening bills – just contact your energy supplier about getting your smart meter at no extra cost.

Smart Energy GB is the government backed organisation tasked with informing Great Britain about the benefits of the smart meter rollout.

NADIYA'S ASIAN ODYSSEY

NADIYA HUSSAIN IS SETTING OFF IN SEARCH OF FAMILY CONNECTIONS IN A NEW TWO-PART SPECIAL...

Last year, Nadiya Hussain took a DNA test to find out about her ancestry, and got back some surprising results. Nadiya was born and raised in Britain, and her family is originally from Bangladesh, but the test revealed that she also has roots in Cambodia, Nepal and Thailand.

This two-part series sees Nadiya head off to visit these countries to explore her new-found connections. Intrigued to find out what it was like for her to go in search of a history she previously knew nothing about, Inside TV got Nadiya on the phone for a chat...

"Lots of people know where their family has come from, and can go back generations," Nadiya tells us. "I can only go back as far as my grandad, and the vague stories my grandma tells me. She's in her 90s now, and every story is like, 'I'm sure this isn't the same as the last time she told me!' She's all I've got in terms of our family history, so I'm desperate to know where it all started."

Nadiya says in the show that this trip is farther than she's ever travelled solo before, and she tells us she really missed her kids while she was away.

"My children are like my scarves and my shoes and my jacket," she shares. "Leaving them behind is the hardest thing in the world. The reason why I was doing this was even harder, because I was going off to discover something about myself, but ultimately whatever I discovered affected them, too. So when I got back, they were like, 'That's not fair! We want to do it, too!' So I'll just have to go back to Cambodia and Nepal and Thailand with the kids!"

Of course, since this is Great British Bake Off winner Nadiya

Hussain we're talking to, this show isn't only a family history expedition – it's also a chance to discover the culinary cultures of the places she's visiting and try out some new recipes.

"My favourite was making the grandmothers' curry in Thailand," reveals Nadiya. "I felt so connected to them that by the end we were hugging and kissing. They wanted to see what my husband and kids looked like – they didn't believe me when I said I had three kids, and I loved that!"

Going on this trip was also an unforgettable experience – and Nadiya admits that it's set her mind racing...

"I thought it would close one chapter for me where I could say, 'Okay, so now I know,'" she explains. "But in fact it's spurred my curiosity even more, and I can't stop! But at least I have a rough idea of where my family might have come from – and it was the most emotional, exhausting journey I've ever made in my life!"

I was completely hooked on it – I was wishing my life away waiting for the finale! It was incredibly written, incredibly acted and just a real joy to watch. I also really love Line Of Duty, which is by the same writer. I also like Unforgotten as well, and I thought that The Split was very good, too.

My kids still like watching Friends, unbelievably! So I'm watching that, too, but it's the third time round with my kids, and it's still funny – I wish they'd do a reunion! It really hasn't dated, which is incredible, bearing in mind that I was watching it before my children were born.

Pretty Woman is my Christmas film, if that makes sense!

I love the shopping scenes in it, and the romance – it's such a great film. I think I've watched everything that's on Netflix, too – there's nothing on there I haven't watched! From Grace

And Frankie to Shooter, Designated Survivor, Fargo... everything!

I used to love watching a bit of Dallas when I was growing up.

All those shoulder pads, the espionage, the underhanded lying and cheating, it was all good stuff! I took a few lessons from it in how to wear the shoulder pads, the earrings and the big hair...

I really love the show that Richard E Grant does called Hotel Secrets, where he goes around the world looking at fabulous hotels. I'd love to do that – that's definitely a bit of me! And on a completely different end of the scale, I'd love to do Bear Grylls' Man vs. Wild. I'd like to see if I could survive!

What do you mean you're NOT watching...

THE HEIST | Sky One FRIDAY

WE'RE FINDING THIS SHOW about a group of ordinary people attempting to pull off an audacious robbery absolutely fascinating. Does that mean Inside TV has a secret criminal streak that we've concealed all these years? (It would explain a lot, frankly.) Anyway, in this week's penultimate episode, the detectives are running out of time to catch the heisters, so they pull in sisters Jessica and Laura in the hope that they'll crack under pressure. Meanwhile, Dianne is worried that the sleuths are close to laying their hands on her share of the loot...

Chilling out:
Natalie's calm
under pressure,
but what's next?

FORTITUDE | Sky Atlantic THURSDAY

LEFT OUT IN THE COLD

RICHARD DORMER AND SIENNA GUILLORY RETURN FOR A FINAL SERIES OF THE ARCTIC DRAMA...

There are few dramas as cheerfully barmy as Sky Atlantic's Fortitude – a show which, in its previous two series, has proven that it's willing to go where other shows wouldn't dream of treading. (For example, the residents of Fortitude are still recovering from an attack of prehistoric parasitic wasps that caused them to go insane and murderous in the first series.) This week, it's back for a final four-parter, and we know we're going to miss it terribly when it's gone.

Inside TV caught up with the show's Richard Dormer, who plays terrifying town sheriff Dan Anderssen, and Sienna Guillory, who plays parasite-infected scientist Natalie Yelburton, to find out what awaits us. We're almost too scared to ask...

Dan has done – and still does – some terrible things. Is he beyond saving?

Richard I think that there's a good guy in there somewhere – he's just forgotten himself a bit. He's just doing what he thinks is right for Fortitude. He's basically like a shepherd protecting his flock – when anybody comes in and starts trying to mess things up, Dan's going to get rid of them!

Natalie is suffering greatly from her infection – what's next in line for her?

Sienna What I love about this story is that it's not so much horror as the very question of being. In a time when we're questioning whether we are capable of being monsters, what is it about us that maintains our humanity? So if you're beset by a parasite, how do you maintain a sense of who you are?

The location shoots for the previous series were done in Iceland, but this time you went to Svalbard, where the series is set. What was it like?

Richard Cold! It was freezing – about minus 45 degrees in the opening scene, but with the wind chill, I don't know... Maybe minus 60 or something on my skin? I literally could not feel my face. The cold was intense – if you wanted to light a cigarette, you'd take your glove off and within 20 seconds your hand would be so sore, it's actually painful. It's that quick. So there aren't a lot of people smoking!

Sienna, all of your scenes for this series were shot in studios in the UK – did you miss the location shoots?

Sienna I think that one of the most beautiful things for me, when I used to go out to the Arctic, was that we were all together. It's a very close-knit family – I think I'll keep these people with me for the rest of my life. I can remember last season being on the tundra in a storm, getting into a tent, then shooting the inside of the tent in a studio during a heatwave in July! You're sweating, but you're trying to maintain the feeling and the ferocity of the cold in your performance!

Arctic roles: Dan and Michael (Dennis Quaid) have their parts to play in the show's final series

FRIEND OF DOROTHY

KEELEY HAWES FILLS US IN ON HER ENIGMATIC ROLE IN THE FAMILY DRAMA...

Were you paying attention during last week's episode of Mrs Wilson? Then you'll likely have spotted Keeley Hawes popping up briefly in a couple of scenes. Chances are you'll also have worked out that one generally wouldn't hire Ms Hawes for a glorified cameo, so you'll have wondered what her character Dorothy's connection to the Wilsons is. Well, that's where Alison herself (played by Ruth Wilson) is heading in this episode, as she tracks down Dorothy in search of answers...

"We have a fantastic scene together of these two women meeting – that was really exciting," reveals Keeley. "I'm a big fan of Ruth's, and she was just brilliant. She has been so relaxed about this story, and so generous on every level with it. She'll have a laugh about it and go, 'Oh, God, wasn't it crazy?' Her whole family has been really great in allowing the story to be told."

There are further shocks in store for Alison in this week's episode, as she picks up more details about her husband's other life, and Keeley confirms that she found the story absolutely fascinating – particularly when she started discussing it with others...

"The whole thing is one revelation after another – it's just extraordinary," she muses. "If it wasn't real, you'd have got the script and gone, 'Pfft! Come on! It's too much!' But it's all true – it's stranger than fiction. And whenever I've said to anybody, 'I'm doing this amazing story,' the majority of people then go, 'And guess what happened in my family!' I think it's quite cathartic for people, something like this, because you think, 'Ah, everybody's got a slightly bonkers family.' But very few have got one like this!"

DARCEY BUSSELL: DANCING TO HAPPINESS | BBC2 9PM

Great Dame

Okay, we admit, we're crossing fingers (and good toes, naughty toes) for even just a snippet of Darcey Bustop's classic French & Saunders sketch as part of this one-off special. Seriously, though, the documentary delves into Dame Bussell's career since retiring from ballet – and we're not talking Strictly... She's been a keen advocate of dance classes for schoolkids and has called upon Parliament to make it part of the curriculum.

But it's not just about fitness, as Darcey believes dancing is vital for positive mental health, too – including her own. She takes a look at workshops for young people who have mental health issues, and dance classes for those suffering with dementia and Parkinson's. Miss Bristle, we salute you.

The final countdown

THE X FACTOR FINAL | ITV 7.30PM

It's the final weekend! Whoop! And as the remaining singers take to the stage in the hope of nailing both the audience and the judges' votes, it looks likely the strongest team win will go to Louis Tomlinson's Boys, but it's still anyone's game. Mind you, after Sir Lord of Cowell went and bent the rules at the last minute (no one likes a sore loser, Simon) to ensure that two of his Girls – Bella Penfold and Shan – would still get to appear on the X Factor Live Tour despite being booted out, who knows what the end result will turn out to be? Right, we're just off down the bookies for a punt on Dalton Harris...

SATURDAY

THE SINNER | BBC4 9PM

You may have already caught this acclaimed US drama on Netflix, but for those of you who aren't on that bandwagon yet, BBC4 has you covered. Jessica Biel stars as Cora Tannetti – a woman who while out at the beach with her husband and young son, suddenly snaps and brutally stabs a stranger to death. With so many witnesses, it should be an easy case for Detective Harry Ambrose (Bill Pullman) – but he wants to know why she did it...

CLIQUE | BBC3 10AM

Holly and Jack present a united front in their search for the person who might hold the answers to what happened that night on the beach. And is the secure unit really secure enough to prevent Rachel from exerting her influence?

DAVE'S ADVENT CALENDAR | Dave 9PM

A selection of festive comedy shorts (not like the ones you'll probably get from your auntie on the 25th) begins tonight. Up first, Kerry Godliman tries to cure Romesh Ranganathan of his strongly-held belief that Christmas is rubbish.

GUN NO. 6 | BBC2 9PM

Shot in the dark

Since the UK's firearms laws were tightened in 1997, handguns have been outlawed – but a small number of guns remain in circulation, being passed around in secret. Using forensic data that can confirm which particular weapon a bullet was shot from, West Midlands police compiled a list of the 10 guns most prolifically used in crimes in the early 2000s, and one of them stood out above all others as the deadliest and most active – gun number six.

This documentary charts the crimes of gun number six from the perspectives of police, victims and perpetrators. It's an unflinching portrayal of the real-life consequences of gun crime from all angles, and it's a truly emotional experience.

THE LITTLE DRUMMER GIRL | BBC1 9PM

Regional variations

The gripping espionage drama comes to the end of its run, and Charlie's performance as an acolyte of Khalil has been so convincing that even Becker and Kurtz have their doubts about whether she's truly on their side any more. But the chance to have an inside woman so close to Khalil and his associates is too good an opportunity for Kurtz to pass up, so he has to trust that Charlie is capable of seeing the mission she was recruited for through to completion. As for Charlie herself? She has seriously divided loyalties, and her belief in the justification of her cause might be wavering...

SECRETS OF BRITISH ANIMATION | BBC4 9PM

This documentary dedicated to a whole century of British animation reveals the secrets behind our success in the field – namely how UK artists were tasked with coming up with their own signature style in order to compete with the big-budget American studios. Interviews with leading Brit animators look at the works of Joy Batchelor, Joanna Quinn and Bristol's world-players, Aardman Animations.

S.W.A.T. | Sky One 9PM

It's the season finale tonight, and in their last life-or-death mission, S.W.A.T. race to save the city from being bombed. Meanwhile, Hondo is forced to get tough with Street when he lies to the team, leaving his career in potential tatters...

THE TRUTH ABOUT KILLER ROBOTS | Sky Atlantic 9PM

Okay, not so much Cybermen-style droids and more like flash new cars that might drive you in front of a passing train, this documentary nonetheless offers a worrying look at the dangers of automation becoming an increasing part of everyday life.

BABIES: THEIR WONDERFUL WORLD | BBC2 9PM

Gurgle search

Paediatrician Dr Guddi Singh fronts this experimental piece of TV, in which more than 200 little ones partake in the biggest-ever study into the first two years of life. The research aims to reveal what we're ultimately made of (in our case, chocolate biscuits) and answer the big questions, such as, how do early language skills affect our academic success? Can babies learn to control their emotions? Why can't toddlers chuck out their own nappies so we don't have to remortgage

the house on Ambi Pur? (Okay, so maybe not the last one.)

In this episode, parents are tasked with – gasp – ignoring their tots for two whole minutes. And just wait till you see the reaction when they regain Mum or Dad's attention... Squee!

DON'T Miss!

Video nasty

PEOPLE JUST DO NOTHING | BBC2 10PM

And from the sublime to the ridiculous... Stay on Beeb 2 to tune in to the Krupt FM boys as they unveil their new video (or should that be 'wideo'?) for Heart Monitor Riddem, expertly (ahem) directed by Chabuddy. Yeah, yeah, yeah, it's going down a storm like Stormzy – if you believe what Grindah says, anyway. Ironically, the MC ends up at the doc's with a mystery illness, and treats the medic to a viewing of the crew's new vid, in which Beats and Grindah are dressed as surgeons. It's the circle of life. Elsewhere, Chabuddy's job is in jeopardy after he's caught on CCTV destroying electrical goods...

CRIMINAL MINDS | Sky Witness 9PM

Multi-talented Joe Mantegna (Rossi) is both in front of and behind the camera tonight, as he takes over the director's chair for the ninth time. The BAU is heading to Maryland after four murders in three days along the east coast set alarm bells ringing, but the case becomes personal for Alvez when the team uncovers ties to the time he spent trying to track down Mexico's most notorious hitman.

INSIDE THE AMBULANCE | W 8PM

It's set to be another eventful week for the West Midlands Ambulance Service as the team picks up a girl who doesn't want them to examine her cut head. There's also a callout to a mature student who needs medical assistance.

CLUB REP WARS | E4 10PM

It's the grand final of the Greek odyssey tonight, as BJ the big boss sets the teams one last challenge – rival beach parties, right next to each other. Might the Blues finally implode? Can the Pinks learn to get along at last? Tune in to find out...

LOCKERBIE: THE UNHEARD VOICES | Channel 5 9PM

United in grief

Sadly, the small Scottish town of Lockerbie will forever be synonymous with the deadliest terrorist attack to occur on UK soil. On 21 December 1988, a Boeing 747 en route from Heathrow to New York's JFK Airport exploded over Lockerbie, killing 11 locals and 259 passengers and crew.

This film intertwines the personal stories of six victims and six survivors, some of whom have never spoken on camera before. Discussing dramatic decisions made before the flight took off – with Sliding Doors moments such as the mum and daughter who tossed a coin to decide who would board the plane – to eyewitness accounts of what happened on that fateful day, it's a tough, but moving, watch.

DON'T Miss!

LEGO MASTERS | Channel 4 8PM

Bricking it

Melvin will be the harbinger of Odoo (see what we did there?) for two pairs of Lego-builders tonight, as it's the last in the series, and the four remaining teams will be knocked down to two for the final's final build. The first challenge sees them construct a walking, talking, robo-pet (self-emptying litter tray presumably not included), after which the last two pairs create their Master Builds, which are to be displayed for us mere mortals at the Design Museum before the judges – randomly including Sue Perkins – give their verdicts. Who will lift the Lego trophy? And who's going to tidy up all those bricks?

THE RELUCTANT LANDLORD | Sky One 10PM

In the last of the series tonight, Romesh's probation period at The Seven Swans is over and the brewery wants him out. So as a final farewell to his punters, Romesh organises a talent show – but things get out of hand when Lemon urges him to trash the bar... Meanwhile, Natasha eagerly searches for a loophole in the brewery's contract... (which surely means a deal for series two must be in the offing?)

TATTOO FIXERS: EXTREME | E4 9PM

It's all a bit X-rated this week, as Sketch covers up Corey's tribute to his love of dinner ladies (the canteen type, we presume, rather than a homage to the Victoria Wood sitcom) and Uzzi helps Mike conceal an overly suggestive etching.

TRIAL & RETRIBUTION | Drama 9PM

Classic crime drama courtesy of Lynda La Plante. DI North looks into a case that could clear a man who was convicted of murder eight years ago, only to find that DS Walker was in charge of the original inquiry. Catch part two tomorrow night.

PAUL O'GRADY: FOR THE LOVE OF DOGS | ITV 8PM

DON'T Miss!

Storm in a wee pup

You don't normally get many celebrity special guests on this show, because the cute dogs and pups are all the star power it needs. However, there's an exception to all that when award-winning grime artist Stormzy drops by. We know!

We thought that was rather unusual, too, but we double-checked and... oh. Hang on, we misread that, it's actually Stormy that's on tonight's show. Stormy the nine-week old Pomeranian puppy. False alarm – sorry, everyone.

Stormy is quite the draw nonetheless, as Paul helps to train the young hound tonight. Also featured is Spudnik the French bulldog, who needs surgery to open his airways, but doesn't fancy the anaesthetic. Can Paul persuade the pooch?

DEATH AND NIGHTINGALES | BBC2 9PM

Beth's secret plan is eating away at her, and so in tonight's episode she shares it with a trusted confidante – Mercy. However, Mercy's reaction doesn't exactly give Beth peace of mind in her decision-making, as she insists that Beth leaving Fermanagh would break her heart – and that's not even close to the effect that it would have on her stepdad Billy. Nonetheless, Beth presses on with her plan to leave with Liam, but before she can fully put it into action, she faces a questioning from drunk and somewhat suspicious Billy: is there anything she wants to get off her chest?

ESCAPE FROM DUBAI: THE MYSTERY OF THE MISSING PRINCESS | BBC2 9PM

Behind the sunshine

It says a lot for the impact of this documentary that we had a deep and chilling sense of foreboding before we were even a full minute into watching it. Escape From Dubai picks up the story of Princess Latifa, daughter of Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, the ruler of Dubai. From the outside, it may have seemed like Latifa lived a charmed life, but earlier this year, she tried to leave for a new life in America – only to be captured eight days later. She has not been seen since.

Latifa left a video with a lawyer alleging she had been tortured after a previous attempt to leave. This film considers the questions raised by Latifa's video, and asks whether Dubai's sunshine image is really all it seems.

THE SUPERVET AT CHRISTMAS | Channel 4 8PM

Having a poorly pet at Christmas is a sure-fire way to cast a cloud over the festive period – and in this seasonal special, Noel is doing everything he can to ensure it'll be a happy Christmas for the entire family, including the canine members. One case is Tatiana, a one-year-old crossbreed from Romania, who has severely deformed front legs. She'll never be able to walk normally, but will Noel's operation help her towards a better quality of life? It's also a tense time for Clive and Julie, whose 'dodgy dog' Peppa needs surgery to save her spinal cord, and time is very much of the essence.

NEW GIRL | E4 9.30PM

In the last episode, like, evah, the gang prepares to say an emotional farewell to the loft apartment (bells of the final episode of Friends ringing for anyone else? Thought so). Tonight you can join Jess,

Nick, Winston, Schmidt and the rest of the crew as they take a trip down memory lane and have a gander back at their time together – cue plenty of flashbacks, then – and take in a concluding round of their drinking game, True American. Sniff.

YOUNG SHELDON | E4 8.30PM

Tonight's episode is typically abstruse in title – A Research Study And Czechoslovakian Wedding Pastries. Er, right. Anyway, Dr Sturgis puts Missy and Sheldon forward for a new study on twins, but the results go to Sheldon's head (natch).

SALLY4EVER | Sky Atlantic 10PM

It's the finale of Julia Davis' mental-as-anything comedy, and Emma and Sally bump into Sean Bean (#random). Meanwhile – vomit alarm! – a bout of suspected food poisoning turns out to be something more unexpected...

JAMIE AND JIMMY'S FRIDAY NIGHT FEAST | Channel 4 8PM

DON'T Miss!

Currying favour

In most circumstances, if you've had to call a doctor out to your restaurant, it's bad news. It means you can probably kiss one of those hygiene stars in your front window goodbye, for starters. Fortunately for Jamie and Jimmy at the start of this new series, it's not just a doctor they've summoned – it's the Doctor, alias the ace Jodie Whittaker.

Jodie will be stopping by the café to give the boys a hand with today's menu, which includes roast pork and crispy crackling, as well as a Thai beef massaman curry that Jodie has been thinking about for nearly 20 years. Jamie and Jimmy will also be back on the campaign trail, to try to keep sustainable British brown crabs on menus across the country.

DON'T Miss!

IN MY SKIN | BBC1 11.50PM

"A little bending of the truth never hurt anyone, did it?" remarks 16-year-old Bethan in this Welsh coming-of-age tale. Sure enough, minutes later, it becomes painfully clear that the breezy image of her home life that she paints for her friends is quite an airbrushed version of the truth, where things are far more challenging than she's willing to let on to anyone. This was initially released under BBC3's Comedy Slice strand, and while it does have wickedly funny moments, it's also a painfully well-realised portrayal of teenage life, with a spot-on central performance from Gabrielle Creevy.

NAILED IT! HOLIDAY | Netflix

It hadn't even occurred to us until we heard the news that Nailed It! would be back for a special festive run of episodes, but this really is the ideal show to get a Christmas special – after all, what could be more Christmassy than a disaster in the kitchen? The brilliant Nicole Byer and pastry chef Jacques Torres will be back as lead judges to preside over another batch of contestants all attempting to outreach their baking grasp with arty festive fare.

DUMPLIN' | Netflix

Overweight teen Willowdean – 'Dumplin'' to her mother Rosie (Jennifer Aniston) – decides to enter her local beauty pageant to prove a point in this movie. Unexpectedly, Will's "protest in heels" prompts other outsiders to follow her lead...

BARBRA STREISAND: BECOMING AN ICON | BBC4 9PM

Hard as it may be to believe, Barbra Streisand didn't just emerge fully formed on to the Broadway stage. This film follows the story of a girl from working-class Brooklyn who fought to shatter stereotypes and become a star.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

RAY QUINN (Jonny, Hollyoaks)

IN He's won Dancing On Ice (twice!) and been runner-up on The X Factor way back in 2006 – and now Ray Quinn is off to Chester! Ray is returning to the world of soap having played Anthony Murray in Brookside, back when he was a youngster. His new Hollyoaks character Jonny is a 'mysterious stranger' who takes Ste down a very dark path, grooming him to join a group of far-right extremists. "Jonny is a complex character," hints Ray. "There will definitely be challenging storylines, but I'm excited!" Winter

DEBRA LAWRENCE (Liz Conway, Neighbours)

IN We loved seeing ex-Home and Away legend Debra as Elly and Bea's deceitful mother Liz earlier this year – and the good news is she's back on screen very soon! Elsewhere this issue, we report on Elly's complicated love life (see p16) – so will Liz be on hand to give her elder daughter some support for once? Or will Elly make sure that her mum is the one person who definitely won't receive a wedding invite? We predict sparks will fly! Winter

NICOLA THORP (Nicola Rubinstein, Corrie)

IN Actress Nicola is back on the cobbles, reprising her role as the daughter of evil Pat Phelan, and the star recently sent a special video message to fans from Coronation Street's official Twitter account. "Hello, everyone – it's my first day back on the set of Corrie," she grinned. "I'm so excited to be back. I've missed you all! It's been a long time now since Phelan's reign of terror, but I hope you're all looking forward to what Nicola's going to get up to in January when she's back on screen. Love you all!" January

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

JAC'S UP FOR A NEW JOB!

Ex-Walford star Jacqueline Jossa (Lauren Branning) is keen to line up some fresh acting jobs. "In the new year, I really want to put myself out there," she told OK!. "I've been enjoying having some time out, but I do want to get back to work soon. I love acting – it's a big part of my life."

STEVE'S WIVES UNITE!

Two of Steve McDonald's ex-wives are to come together for the first time – for BBC One's Gentleman Jack. Former Corrie stars Katherine Kelly (Becky) and Suranne Jones (Karen) have both been signed up for the historical drama, with Suranne in the lead role of Anne Lister. Katherine plays Elizabeth Sutherland, the sister of Anne's intended wife Ann Walker. The eight-part series will air next year.

RITA ASKS LARRY FOR HIS JUNGLE ADVICE!

She's currently Down Under, taking part in ITV's I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here!, and ex-EastEnder Rita Simons (Roxy Mitchell) says she sought out some advice from her on-screen father Larry Lamb (Archie) before setting off on her adventure! "I'm excited about going into the jungle," she says. "I know quite a lot of people who've done it, including Larry [who competed in 2016]. He's like my dad, and he's always advising me. He said he couldn't advise me more to do it, as he had the best time ever!"

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

While eating our tea, we'd rather watch Paddy perform a rumenotomy on a cow with a soup spoon than witness Jacob fawning over Maya. Blerk-times-a-million.

Name: David the dog

Age: 4

Specialist subject: The Life and Husbands of Gail Platt

It's hard to believe that Maisie Smith (Tiff) and Clair Norris (Bernie) are two of EastEnders' youngest actors. The maturity they show in their scenes knocks spots off some of soap's most accomplished stars.

Game changer! Graham is all kinds of sexy when he bins the hair gel.

We've gone off the idea of popping to the Weatherfield Bistro for our dinner, given how long they leave the food to congeal on the kitchen pass.

BULLSEYE!

The suspense of Phil's return – followed by the cringing agony of Keanu hiding under the Mitchell marital bed while Sharon welcomed her man home – was too much for our shattered nerves to bear. Best soap cliffhanger in ages! We were also amused by Steve McFadden's performance. There was a cheeky glint in his eye that screamed, 'Phil doesn't know, but I do...' Welcome home, big fella!

Spray-tanned Chesney reminds Jenny of an "ickle-lickle Donald Trump". That's harsh, Jenny! Even for Chesney.

Seeing Stuart in Mick's shirt and waistcoat... Brr! We can't even look, it feels so wrong.

The Dales kids have clearly enjoyed watching the Clive the con man storyline as much as the rest of us.

We bet these Corrie extras get loads of work. This week: generic thugs. Next time: waving flags at Weatherfield Pride. Truly, they are men for all seasons.

Louise is coming into her own as what Inside Soap likes to call a 'Mitchell madam'. There was no stopping her this week!

The Connor-Neeson-Prestons are almost doing as bad a job at keeping a murder under wraps as that time the Platts squeezed a stiff into Gail's granny annexe.

YOU USE IT TO FACE THE DAY WE USE IT TO FACE CANCER

Self-esteem is important to all women, it just happens to be in sharper focus for those who have cancer. That's the reason Look Good Feel Better exists. We have been helping to combat the visible side effects of cancer treatment for over 20 years through free confidence-boosting skincare and make-up workshops across the UK and worldwide.
